SED Bullish on Prospects in New Year

See many opportunities for dealers to prosper in 2009

Recognizing the entrepreneurial spirit of its customers, SED believes a difficult economy opens new opportunities for dealers to succeed. "It's just like anything else in business," said Jonathan Elster, EVP of SED International, "The companies that do the best job meeting the needs of their customers, ultimately providing the most value, will succeed".

Rick Sanchez, Sales Manager for SED's Dallas office, noted that in tough times, consumers and businesses alike are looking for ways to cut costs, not to stop spending. "This is where dealers should focus: show their customers how to cut their expenses by doing more business with them!" Sanchez said. "The specifics depend on who the customer is and what the dealer's business model is." One idea he mentioned was to show a small business how, by adding a server, they can reduce costs in other areas of their business while increasing efficiencies that bring in new business.

SED also plans to do its part by increasing value to its customers and helping to show ways to capitalize and uncover opportunities. "When the going gets tough, the tough get going….that is a motto we take seriously," said Barry Diamond, SED's VP of Product Management. "We are working hard with our vendors to bring even better deals to our customers. This is a major focus for us right now".

"We already have numerous promos and special offers for our customers,", said Rob Kalman, VP of Marketing for SED. "But we are not ever satisfied that there is enough. Our attitude is to constantly pursue more reasons for dealers to want to do business with us". Kalman pointed out the SED Rewards™ program (see page 3) and Instant Savings Coupons (throughout this paper) as two examples of real value that SED provides to its customers currently.

EDITOR'S NOTE

By Rob Kalman

Dear Reader:
Welcome to the first issue of Plugged In, an SED quarterly publication. Our goal is to keep you informed about the latest and greatest products and promotions we have to offer.

We welcome your input into what you would like to see in this paper and any ideas you have….. after all, we are doing this for you! As you likely are well aware, our industry moves very quickly and many changes take place every day. Likewise, at SED, new products and promotions are introduced at a rapid pace. Unfortunately (for this paper's editor), all these changes do not happen on a nice and neat schedule, which makes it impossible to get everything that will be newsworthy into each issue.

Fortunately, we have other ways to announce new products and promotions, such as through e-mail and our web-site (www.sedonline.com). And the best source of the latest news is from your assigned SED sales representative, who is well versed on all that is happening within our company.
If you are not receiving our marketing e-mails and would like to, please let your sales representative know or go to www.sedonline.com/reseller_specials.

Our hope is that all these tools keep you up-to-date and Plugged In!

Please provide suggestions and ideas at www.sedonline.com/pluggedin or to your sales representative.

IT CAN BE DONE!

By Jonathan Elster

The slogan "It Can Be Done!" is on a banner on our sales floor. SED employees see it every day. So do guests when they visit us. It means that if something makes sense, if it is the right thing to do, then we will make it happen. It also means that no goal is too large and no obstacle too big to keep us from succeeding each and every day.

Success is not measured by numbers alone. An important barometer for us is how satisfied our customers are doing business with us. Are we doing everything we can to meet their needs? Are we doing that little extra to ensure their satisfaction? For this to happen, everyone in our company needs to feel it is their job and that they can make a difference. "It Can Be Done!" gives us all something to rally around; a common language.

Part of how we make sure we are delivering on our customer satisfaction objectives, is to assign a Sales Representative to each customer. Each Sales Rep has a Sales Manager who's #1 job is to ensure our customers are getting what you need from us. You should expect to hear from them occasionally, to see how you are doing and what we can do better for you. I also encourage you to let us know when you have any input about things you would like to see us continue, do more of, or do differently.

This year, with the economy presenting new challenges, it is more important than ever that companies stay close to their customers. We are committed to this. We are also focused on finding great deals and other tools for you to not only be successful, but to prosper despite whatever may be happening out there.

It Can Be Done!

Jonathan Elster is Executive Vice President of SED International, Inc. and can be reached at jelster@sedintl.com

What Is SED Rewards?

What is it?
SED Rewards is an exciting new incentive for eligible SED customers to earn dollars on a special American Express® branded Card which can be used at over 180 merchants, including SED! To be eligible, customers must purchase goods at standard SED prices. Customers with special pricing structures may not be eligible.

Will there be a credit check run as part of the approval process?
No, there will be no credit check run. This is not a credit card. The American Express® branded SED Rewards™ Card is a prepaid rewards card.

How do I get started?
Register at sedonline.com/rewards. One individual registers on behalf of your company as the "program administrator." An American Express® branded SED Rewards™ Card will be issued in the name of both the applying company and the program administrator. The Card will be mailed once $10 worth of points is accumulated on the Card.

How does it work?
When you buy qualifying products, you earn dollars in the form of points which are put on an American Express® branded SED Rewards™. Points are awarded after payment is received for qualifying purchases. Points are accumulated net of returns. The Card will be mailed once $10 worth of points is accumulated on the Card.

How often will points be loaded to my card?
Twice per month, on the 1st and 15th of each month (or the first business day following those dates if they fall on a weekend or holiday). After the close of each period, points earned will be loaded to the Card.

Which SED products are included?
Products and vendors will be added and may change from time to time. For the latest list, go to sedonline.com/rewards.

At what rate are points earned?
Standard points are awarded at a rate of 1 point for every $200 in qualifying purchases. On the Card, 1 point is equal $1 in purchasing power. Special promotions will be announced from time to time with bonus points for specific products or vendors.

What can the Card be used for?
Shop at over 180 of your favorite retail, online and travel providers.

Visit www.rewardearner.com/sed to see a complete list.

Netbooks Take Market by Storm

1400% growth in 2008 with projections of another doubling in 2009.

Netbooks, which were originally developed as low cost computers for students in developing nations, have seen huge growth over the past year. According to Display-Search, netbook sales for 2008 are expected to come in around 14 million units, with Acer, ASUS, and MSI accounting for about 75% of the total.

Consumers have latched on to the small form factor and low price of these mini laptops, while reports of usage vary from basic internet access to full-fledged computing. Top selling models are the Acer Aspire One, ASUS EeePC, and the MSI Wind.

The strong growth is expected to continue, as Digitimes reports expected 2009 sales of as much as 30 million units, led by Acer with 12-13m and ASUS with roughly 7m units.

SED offers Acer and MSI netbooks throughout the U.S. and Latin America, while ASUS netbooks are available exclusively to the company's Rent-to-Own dealer customers.

"The ultimate fate of the netbook isn't clear, but it seems increasingly likely that the new form factor is here to stay," said Jon Stokes of Ars Technica, a technology research firm. "As time goes on, we'll find out the form it'll take, but Acer and ASUS are confident of their starring roles in the netbook's ongoing history."

OEM Office Can Be Attached to Most System Sales

Savvy dealers help their customers save about 30%.

Microsoft's Office Ready Program allows OEM Office product keys to unlock full versions of Office on computers with Office trial versions preinstalled. As part of program, "multinational" computer manufacturers, such as Acer and ASUS, in addition to other system builders, load a special 60-day trial version of Office on select computers (most are now loaded this way), which allows the user to test the product prior to purchase.

These trial versions can be unlocked immediately after purchase or at a future date. Users can unlock directly with Microsoft, buy a full retail version of Office from a reseller, or can purchase an OEM product key from the reseller who sold them the system, even if the dealer is not in the OEM channel. Dealers can purchase the OEM product keys from SED for about 30% less than the equivalent retail products.

"In many cases, dealers sell a computer to a consumer or business who then in turn buys Office from their local big-box retailer," said Adrian Law, Microsoft Sales Champion for SED "They are missing an opportunity to help their customer save money, not to mention losing out on a sale." Microsoft reports that 70% of users purchase Office within one month of buying a new PC. "The reason most dealers miss out on this sale is because they don't ask for it," Law stated.

Branded systems can be preinstalled with a 60 trial of Office Professional 2007 or Office Home and Student 2007. OEM product keys will activate both of these trials, with Basic, Small Business, and Professional product keys available for the Professional trial version. The Office Professional trial is loaded on all Asus Notebooks (not the EeePC netbook), and Acer Travelmate, Veriton and Extensa notebooks and desktops. Acer Aspire systems have the Home and Student trial installed.

SED INTEGRATION SERVICES

SED Builds Systems

High quality, low cost, quick turnaround mark service

SED Technical Services provides custom configuration and system upgrade services to resellers looking for white-box solutions. Custom configurations are offered for both desktop and server builds and upgrades are provided for all systems, including notebooks.

An experienced team of technicians ensure quality through extensive memory and burn-in testing, resulting in a less than 1% out-of-box failure rate. Most orders ship within 24-48 hours, and costs are kept low by leveraging SED's distribution pricing combined with very competitive configuration fees.

"We take pride in what we do and we believe it shows in every system we build," said John Wilkins, Technical Director for SED. Wilkins understands the customer's needs, having previously run the system building and testing services for a large system builder. "It is important for us to have a clear understanding of what the reseller's requirements are and the solutions they are trying to achieve," added Wilkins. "We can do a wide range of things, from building a complex server to upgrading notebook memory. Our motto is 'You name it. We build it!'"

CONSUMER ELECTRONICS

CE Fast Growing Segment for SED

TV's, Accessories, and Home Audio products lead the way.

Consumer Electronics, made up of product categories such as TV, Mounts & Furniture, Cables & Accessories, Home Audio & Video, Security, and GPS was a fast growing for SED in calendar year 2008. The growth can be attributed in part to the addition of new product lines and an increased focus by the company in this space, including the addition of dedicated CE sales representatives and the creation of CE specific programs. SED also reports seeing more computer resellers adding consumer electronics products to their offerings. "The convergence of CE and Computer categories continues and was joined heavily by the Cellular industry in 2008," said Kari Lance, CE Marketing Director for SED International. "Despite the economy, we are expecting another strong year in CE as consumers save money by spending more time at home." One category SED is expecting to be strong in 2009 is Custom Install, which includes professional displays and pro cabling equipment. "Although the housing market is off, people are adding product to existing homes, and businesses are adding displays and security products," Lance added.
